G.O.P. Campaign To Cost Almost 3 And Half Million; Democrats Spend Little Over 8 Hundred Thousand BRITISH MINE STRIKE SETTLED

CAMPAIGN WILL COST MAJOR PARTIES OVER FOUR MILLION DOLLARS

NEW YORK, October 25.—Total receipts by the Democratic national committee to October 23, for the conduct of the present campaign amount to $878,821.21, according to an announcement today by Wilbur W. Marsh, the party's national treasurer.

This figure, Mr. Marsh said, was today submitted according to the requirements of the corrupt practices law to the Kenyon committee investigating campaign contributions and expenditures in Chicago.

The sum collected, the Democratic treasurer stated, is constituted almost entirely of contributions to the campaign fund, with the exception of $17,000 which was borrowed. Other sources, which aggregated collections of only a few hundred dollars, included the sale of the campaign text books, refunds from advertising and such small items.

The statement itemizes money received by the headquarters in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, as well as the women's bureau. Of the total $878,821.21 was collected in New York, while San Francisco showed an aggregate fund of but $1,564.90. The women's bureau was responsible for a collection of $8,741.50. Chicago collected $23,041.51.

Disbursements by the entire organization up to the same date, as shown by the statement, amount to $823,445.16, with New York bearing by far the heaviest burden, Chicago a sum slightly less than its receipts, and San Fran-also an expense approximately eight times the amount of funds received. Itemizing the women's bureau for the entire campaign to date cost but $1,139.20, the statement adds:

Account books of the treasurer's office also show disbursements as of October 23, as follows:
Naturalized citizens' bureau, $761.10; organization bureau, $2,348.00; women's bureau, $12,022.20; treasurer's statistical, $1,404.26; general, $2,110.10; publicity, $121,109.31; total commitments, $139,854.03.

In addition to funds already received, Mr. Marsh's statement included a memorandum to the effect that two individuals had pledged $25,000 each to pay the expenses of advertising books relating to the League of Nations.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The Republican national committee's campaign to elect Senator Warren G. Harding, president will cost $3,442,832.32, Fred W. Upham, national treasurer of the party, notified the senate committee appointed to investigate campaign expenditures, in a report filed with the committee here today.

Of this sum $3,042,892.32 had been spent up to the close of business Sunday, October 24, and Mr. Upham estimated the expenditures in the closing week of the campaign at $400,000 additional. The report shows that $301,568.98 was spent between October 18, when a report was filed with the clerk of the house of representatives in Washington, and October 24, the date (Continued on Page Eight)

MEASUREMENTS DETERMINE AMOUNTS WOMEN PAY TO CAMPAIGN FUND IN N. Y.

Mrs. Ada Jacobs, largest contributor, at left, and Miss Eileen Mulqueen, the smallest contributor. Congressman Martin Healy is holding the tape-line.

Members of the Cayuga Democratic club, New York, invented a novel way to raise campaign funds. Each one of the members of the club, a woman's organization, was asked to contribute according to the size of her waist—one dollar for every inch. Prominent men of the Democratic party in New York were asked to measure the members. They were assessed so much per waist for the privilege.

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF BUSHELS OF CORN MAY BE BURNED AS FUEL

OMAHA, NEB., October 25.—Hundreds of thousands of bushels of corn may be burned as fuel by farmers in Northern Nebraska, this winter, according to reports brought here from north line counties. High priced coal and a bountiful but low priced crop of corn, is given as the reason. New Corn, unshelled, now being 3-4 of a cent a pound or $15 a ton. The cheapest soft coal is $15 and there are transportation charges above that. A wagon box 30 inches high, is required to hold a ton of unshelled corn and that amount, it is said, will make a hotter fire and last longer than a ton of coal.

West Virginia Has Old Politicians Guessing; Doubtful With G. O. P. Probabilities

(Tomorrow's dispatch will be the first of a series of three analyzing the political situation throughout the whole country based upon personal visits to almost every state in the Union since the two conventions.)

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright by Times Publishing Co.)
WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 25.—West Virginia is being closed as a doubtful largely because the situation here is puzzling. It has most people guessing.

The basis on which the Democrats claim the State is superficially as plausible as the method of calculation of the Republicans. A three-cornered race for governor with a regular Republican and Independent. The public and a Democrat has complicated matters.

But the outstanding fact is that the situation while not without analogy to the Republicans is nevertheless such that Senator Harding may be expected to win the State's electoral vote. Democrats with dissent this may point to the trend which has started in to-

SETTLEMENT CONTINGENT ON MEN'S BALLOT

LONDON, October 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The strike of coal miners throughout England and Wales was settled this afternoon, but the settlement is contingent on a ballot of the miners.

Frank Hodges, a member of the miners' executive today announced: "We have got terms from the government which the executive is submitting to a ballot of the men for their judgment. The executives are recommending their adoption as a temporary measure until a national wages board is established."

The terms which the executive body of the miners is recommending to the men provide for an advance of two shillings per shift for persons of 18 years of age with a corresponding advance for younger miners. The miners pledge themselves to co-operate to the fullest extent for increased output.

Harding Denys Giving Vanderlip Introductory Letter; Says He's Not Agent

CLEVELAND, O., October 25.—In a statement regarding the activities of Washington Vanderlip, reported to be negotiating with the Soviet government in Russia, Senator Warren G. Harding declared here today that he was "very certain" he never had given Vanderlip a letter of introduction to anyone and that Vanderlip was in no way to be regarded as his agent.

"If there is any truth in published reports that Vanderlip has used such a letter in his negotiations," Mr. Harding said, the communication must be more than a purely formal note from at the request of some friend."

The senator, resting here between campaign speeches, also publicly expressed his disapproval of a cartoon recently published by Harry's Weekly, portraying Governor Cox in allegorical character. The Republican nominee said in a statement that because he was sensitive about giving offense to religious reverence, he had asked for suppression of the picture, made by A. C. Reid syndicate, which has a contract for the Republican national committee.

In his comment on the Vanderlip story, the candidate reiterated that he had a recollection of ever having met Vanderlip, and added:

"If I ever got a letter from him, I am positive he did not, it could not have been more than a purely formal note from at the request of some friend."

COX CHARGES SATURDAY EVENING POST AND ITS EDITOR, GEO. HORACE LORIMER, WITH UNFAIR PARTISANSHIP

DAVTON, O., Oct. 25.—Another statement charging the Saturday Evening Post and its editor, George Horace Lorimer, with unfair partisanship, was issued today by Governor Cox of Ohio, Democratic presidential candidate.

"The malicious purpose of the Saturday Evening Post, cloaked under non-partisan methods for the past decade and more, has finally been brought to light," Governor Cox declared, stating that it had made misstatements only four days before election when it was impossible to correct them.

That the Curtis Publishing company had been found guilty by the federal trade commission of violating the anti-trust laws by unfair practices in distributing its periodical was asserted by Governor Cox, declaring that "this business" was opposed to him because he was giving it a square deal and nothing more.

The governor's statement followed: "When early in the week I called attention to the guerrilla tactics of the Saturday Evening Post on the basis of its last-minute attack on me, the response of Mr. Lorimer, its editor, was that my action was unethical. I am perfectly willing to leave the decision on ethics to the voters of America, many of whom have been lifetime readers of the Saturday Evening Post, and whom from the time of its origin has looked upon it as a household journal, to which they resorted eagerly because it took no part in partisan campaigns. The question of ethics would seem to lie in what America has learned to look upon as a square deal; and when a non-partisan journal becomes partisan in its very last issue four days before an election at a time when it is impossible for misstatements to be corrected or events to be explained, it would seem to indicate a very purposeful selfishness, based upon some purpose, which could scarcely be called straightforward and honest. No man who represents a just cause has any objection to presenting both sides of the case.

"In my statement I charged unfair practices. Since Mr. Lorimer has seen fit to reply simply in a way that raises the question of ethics, I would like to direct to him the plain question: 'Is his line in this election which (Continued on Page Eight)

Will Enjoy Taste Of Sweets For First Time

NEW YORK, October 25.—Many European children, born during the war years, will enjoy the taste of sweets for the first time in their lives, as a result of price declines in this country.

Because of lower costs, the American relief administration announced today it would add two and one-half cents to all ten packages bought with upon some purpose, which could scarcely be called straightforward and honest. No man who represents a just cause has any objection to presenting both sides of the case.

DEMOCRATS HOLD GOOD MEETINGS

Strong appeals for the League of Nations and the election of Cox and Roosevelt were made in stirring addresses by Hon. W. A. Inman and Attorney Ralph A. Ay at Democratic rallies held at Powellville and Junior Furnace, Wednesday night.

Hurman Staker presided over the Powellville meeting and Burke Burke presided at the rally at Junior Furnace school house.

Both meetings were well attended and the crowds loudly applauded the speakers at every turn.

Hon. Cleona Seales, Democratic candidate for congress, appeared at both meetings and made short talks in which he declared that not one real Democrat had been elected to his campaign expenses and grounds, if elected, to be in his seat in the hall of congress, and cast his vote on every question, instead of dodging as the records show his opponent had done in many instances.

Local Elks Enjoy An Old Fashioned Initiation

What was probably the largest Elks meeting ever held in Portsmouth took place last night when an old time initiation was put on.

More than 250 members were in attendance and thoroughly enjoyed the thrills of a real initiation. The only thing that in any way may detract from it was a slight accident to Elmer Robinson who got in the way of some now paragon and received a bruise and cut forehead, which had to be dressed by a physician.

It was a big night in Elksdom and the hall was completely filled with members. At the close of the meeting, Elmer Robinson served a buffet lunch. Those candidates were initiated: Harold Walker, R. Boyd, J. Shyrock, J. Herzel and W. Wallace Smith, Cecil Miller, E. E. Finley and H. S. Shoemaker were elected to membership.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs
 Makes a family supply of really effective cough medicine. Easy to prepare and sure about it.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with sore throat, tickle, hoarseness, or difficulty breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with a dry cough, you will find this recipe of a home-made cough remedy. Any drug store can supply you with 25 ounces of pure glycerine and a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. If desired, this recipe will make a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this cake hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "Pinex" and get the genuine article. The Pinex Co., St. Wayne, Ind.

Farmers Advocate Holding Of Crops

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Delegates to a farmers' conference here today are supporting a crop-holding movement said today they hoped the policy committee named at the opening session of the meeting this morning would outline a program for some such movement. They declared they were convinced that in view of the announcement of the federal reserve board that the farmers could not hope for aid from the government.

Others attending the meeting expressed the view that congress might be called upon to assist the farmers who declare that many of them face this unless they can obtain sufficient credit to tide them over the present period of prices for farm products.

Organized labor joined in the conference today, being represented by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor and by William H. Johnson, president of the International Association of Machinists.

Mr. Johnson announced that he had been authorized by Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to say that the engineers organization was ready to cooperate with the farmers.

H. C. Mosely of Perry Grove, Ark., suggested that the farming interests send telegrams to Governor Cox and Senator Harding asking them whether they elected president, they would "be in a position to help the farmers who are losing millions of dollars," and demanding an answer before the farmers go to the polls.

SAYS "BUILDING TRUST" PUT HIM OUT OF BUSINESS

NEW YORK, October 28.—Jacob Brindell, a general contractor, today told the joint legislative committee investigating the building "trust," that William F. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council had "put him out of business" after he had refused to "produce $25,000 in order that he might retain his labor and complete the job."

Brindell also testified he had paid Brindell $1,000 in $100 bills for a job and working agreement with the council.

William Waisel, of Tuckahoe, president of the Garden City Wrecking Company, today testified that he had paid $1,000 to William F. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council, for a working agreement with the council.

Mr. Waisel declared he had also paid Brindell another $1,000 for getting him a house-wrecking job.

The witness told the committee that Brindell, who attended today's session under subpoena, had threatened to "break" him unless he signed an agreement that compelled him to hire only building trades council men.

After "dickering" with Brindell, Mr. Waisel said, he signed the contract and had to discharge his old employees, although they were members of a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and hire the "inexpensive" men of the council's union.

Hayport Row Is Aired; Charge Is Dismissed

The case of Harry and Carl Davis, young men living on Hayport Road, near Wheelersburg, charged with assaulting Lowell and Rexford Courtwright, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Courtwright, of Linwood addition, near Sciotoville, while they were on their way to school on the morning of Oct. 21, was dismissed by Judge Small in Municipal court Thursday after hearing the evidence.

It was claimed that the young men left the buggy in which they were riding and beat the Courtwright youths wholly without cause or excuse. It was further alleged that the Davis later threatened to kill Mrs. Courtwright and her mother Mrs. Martha Snook with a club.

The accused admitted having some trouble with the Courtwright boys but declared that the latter were the aggressors and brought on the difficulty by calling them vile names.

The testimony was extremely conflicting and in dismissing the complaints the court took the view that the trouble was the result of a trial dispute between youths and not to be considered seriously.

Attorney B. F. Kimble represented the defendants and Attorney Luther Thompson handled the case for the state.

White Scores Republicans For Attempting "To Array Creed Against Creed" In Campaign

NEW YORK, October 28.—George White, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, issued the following statement today:

"Accumulating evidence that the Republican campaign has followed a plan to array class against class and creed against creed, justifies Governor Cox's recent picture of the alignment of ulterior forces against him. Such prejudices have been stirred up in the name of strategy that the passing of a generation will not remove.

These tactics were brought definitely into play as the progress of Governor Cox's campaign testified these enemies of America and they came directly from a middle western state following the elevation of a state politician to national position. Every selfish class has had its promises, regardless of the conflict of these promises, but one of the most despicable methods recently brought to light is the alleged quotation from the alleged 'National Catholic Register.' This paper does not exist and so its name and the extract are forged. Their purpose is to arouse powerful enemies against the Democratic party with the implication that religious factors have entered into the administration and the Democratic campaign.

This fake extract from a non-existent journal, has been mailed to all members of all Masonic lodges and distributed surreptitiously at the close of services at Protestant churches.

The purpose of such tactics is to start a religious war between friends of peace who belong to all creeds. It is on a par with the blasphemous cartoon in Harvey's Weekly, circulated by the intimate friends of both the Republican nominee and the national chairman, by the man who claims to have nominated Senator Harding. These ruthless appeals to religious feeling, these sneers at faith and these malicious attempts at religious conversion are reprehensible, not so much because of their possible bearing on the campaign as because of their tendency to create religious differences among our people.

Governor Cox cannot be injured by them, nor can the campaign be arrested by them. The people know his sincere espousal of a sacred cause. The people know, the people know him as a member of a Protestant sect who has been able to obtain the endorsement of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish citizens for the cause of peace, for which he is fighting.

When the time of reasoning comes, let those who have tried to stir up these feelings between the sects, come to judgment.

The following clipping from the Louisville Times of October 23rd, was issued today by the Democratic National Committee to supplement Chairman White's statement on the Republican attempt to stir up religious prejudices. A sectarian article is mailed as fake by church paper Western Recorder says that there is no National Catholic Register. Discovering that there is no such publication as the National Catholic Register, and that the propaganda which is represented was published by the Baptist state board of Missouri, exposes the article which it had printed under the heading, 'House in Our Government.' The fake editorial is headed to be 'contained in' pamphlets handed out by Republican organizers here in vain effort to arouse religious antagonism.' The editorial follows:

Some months before the Western Recorder was sold to its present manager, there appeared in our columns an article entitled, 'House in Our Government.' This article was copied, without permission of the article having been called in question, we proceeded to establish its truth or falsity. We ascertained that it was written in Chicago, and for a paper published in the office of the Western Publishing Co. At the close of the article is written in an illegible hand were the words: 'From the National Catholic Register.' After diligent search we failed to find any such publication with any such name or with any such article. With these facts before us without suggestion or insinuation from any one we take the liberty through the columns of the press to disown all responsibility for the truth of the article in question. We have always analyzed and willing to co-

Anti-Rat Drive Delayed

It is J. Lowrey, who is here to lead a rat killing campaign is being held in his active work by the delay of a week ago. Mr. Lowrey has received many requests for aid from housewives and residents who are bothered by the rodents. In explaining the delay of a rat killing campaign where poison is used he says it is important to be in mind that you are dealing with the creatures of lower animals. The rat has evolved into the brainiest of all and must be dealt with with great care. Five kinds of bait are being used, ham, corn, fish, and green corn. The poison is mixed with each. The bait should be placed in one-half teaspoonful doses 10 to 15 feet apart around the rat on the floor or on the ground where the rat is accustomed to go. The poison, barium carbonate, is a bitter without smell or taste and its presence in the bait is unknown to the rat at all. The movement to eliminate the rat is the most important before the people today. Rats are not only carriers of disease, but from a dollars and cents standpoint the rodents destroy at least a half million dollars worth of foodstuffs each year.

Mr. Lowrey is working under the direction of Health Commissioner E. D. Tate and calls for his shell be made at Dr. Tate's office.

West Virginia Is Doubtful

who knows more about the Italian vote in this state than any of the politicians on either side. He himself voted twice for Wilson. He has been into a severe denunciation of the President for having kept Plumes from Italy.

"Every Italian will vote for Harding," he said, "I am doing everything in my power to double the vote for Harding among the Italians."

There are many thousands of Italians among the mine workers. There are others, nationalities of course. The Italian grievance is merely an illustration of the truth that the miners are conscious of nationality. This does not mean that the miners are prejudiced against the Italian. The promise of help to the workers as a class is a fact.

So Governor Cox, who is personally popular in West Virginia as is proved by the success of his meetings throughout the State last week in the campaign and this last week cannot help but get a decision on the merits of his administration. The resentment against the acts of the Wilson administration is bound to be a vital factor in preventing such a group vote as that of labor from being cast solely for Cox.

One cannot dispute West Virginia without recognizing the plausibility of the Democratic case. For example, the Rexall straw vote which was given so overwhelmingly for the President in most of the running more or less evenly. The drug store vote represents cities which are normally Republican. If that is evenly divided, the Democrats contend that the votes taken in the mining district where there have been few straw votes taken will favor a large vote for Cox. Even a sounding of the horn on the ground of alien grievances, Republicans will admit that such strength as Cox develops must come from the mining districts. Furthermore the registration of white women is far in excess of negro women, a fact from which the Democrats insist on drawing optimistic conclusions.

Also it will be recalled that Hughes carried West Virginia four years ago by about 2,000 votes, which indicated a powerful Democratic vote in a State normally Republican by many thousands.

The women are showing a marked interest in the League of Nations as an issue. Both sides will admit that while the State looked easy for Harding in August, something has happened to cause anxiety in the Republican camp. The Republicans who are the usual power to recognize a change in the situation here since August blame it on the national disturbances growing out of the primary races for governor.

Campaign Expenditures

of today's report.

The total estimated cost of the campaign—$3,442,892.32—is considered in excess of the Republican budget of $3,078, 037.20, presented to the Senate committee at a hearing here last August. But Mr. Upham explained that the disbursements covered the period from June 14, while the budget included only expenditures from July 1. About $200,000 was spent between June 14 and July 1. Mr. Upham's office estimated, leaving the estimated disbursements from July 1 to November 2 approximately $3,243,000, about $182,000 in excess of the estimated budget.

Contributions received since June 14 total $2,911,708.08, or $128,156.24 less than the amount expended to date. Mr. Upham's report shows. Of the amount collected $1,793,565.54 was devoted directly to the national campaign under the direction of the national committee. The remaining $1,118,142.54 was returned to the states in which it was raised in accordance with an agreement whereby the national committee solicited all funds for both state and national campaign purposes.

Since Mr. Upham presented his last report to the Senate committee here on August 30, in which he showed $1,000,000 in excess of the $1,000,000 limit laid down by Chairman Will H. Hays, there have been 16 more such contributions from individuals and two from clubs, today's report shows. The 18 donations total $52,170.50 and include: Harding-Coolidge club, Tulsa, Okla., $10,000.

Hamilton club, Chicago, $6,100.00; James H. Smith, San Francisco, $5,000; G. Kennedy, Tulsa, Okla., $5,000; William Sacks, Tulsa, Okla., $2,500; Perry H. Magee, Tulsa, Okla., $2,500; Thomas Vach, St. Louis, Mo., $2,500; George M. Reynolds, Chicago, $2,000; E. E. Pantzer, Shelbyville, Wis., $2,000; David H. Morris, New York City, $2,000; H. C. Phillips, Washington, D. C., $2,000; William T. Curry, Pittsburgh, Pa., $2,000; Loyd Cogwell, Jr., Albany, N. Y., $2,000; Howard and Helger, Aberdeen, S. D., $1,500; John O. Gilliland, Tulsa, Okla., $1,500; A. A. Augustus, Cleveland, O., $1,500; Alfred Becker, Chicago, $1,250; R. S. Lewis, Fargo, N. D., $1,100.

In several instances, members of the same family have given contributions of $1,000 each.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Davison, Bay City, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crocker, San Francisco; and four other members of the Crocker family; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hodge, Detroit; and four members of the Speckles family of San Francisco are in this class.

Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor Calvin Coolidge, his running mate, each gave $1,000, as did Fred W. Upham, the Republican national treasurer; John T. Adams, vice chairman of the national committee; A. T. Hiett, of Louisville, chairman of the front Kentucky; Mayon T. Herrick of Cleveland, former ambassador to France; and Charles F. Tate, of Cincinnati, brother of ex-President Tate. There are several hundred $500 contributions.

Mr. Upham's office estimated there were approximately 250 contributions to the campaign fund. The number of contributions listed are 25 cents. There are about 10 of $25, 20 of $50, 100 of $100, as well as large numbers in still other amounts. Every $500 donation was carefully checked by Mr. Upham's office.

With his report, Mr. Upham filed a sworn affidavit swearing a copy of the report to be true to the best of his knowledge and belief. The affidavit was sworn to before a notary public in the city of New York. The report was filed with the Senate committee on the day of its presentation.

budget of the committee. One of the questions asked by the committee is: "Have you in the foregoing statement truthfully and fully set forth all moneys paid or promised, whether the promise be of an express sum of money or an agreement to pay an indefinite sum, or to contribute with others to any fund or funds now being collected or to be hereafter collected?"

Mr. Upham answered in the affirmative.

The report shows no pledges of aid to make up any deficit that may exist after the election, but the affidavit states that "the committee does, however, contemplate the continuation of its campaign for funds with which to discharge its unpaid debts."

Asked by the committee whether there were "any agreement or agreement, express or implied, made or contemplated to the effect that any moneys will be furnished to make up the deficiencies, which may exist between moneys on hand, collected or above accounted for and the moneys expended, or which may hereafter be expended by the committee or any of its agents or agencies?"

Mr. Upham said he knew of no such agreements.

Another question asked was: "Is there any agreement of the character referred to in question No. 1, pertaining to the underwriting of obligations which may be hereafter incurred by the committee, or any of its officers or agents?"

In response to another question, he said: "I know of no committee, association, organizations or individuals who are contributing or who have promised or agreed to contribute to the financial aid and prosecution of the campaign for the election of a president, vice president, or member of the United States senate of the committee, the national congressional committee, and the individuals who have contributed to the national committee, and whose contributions have been detailed in the accounts heretofore filed, except the regularly organized committees of the party within the various states."

BLAME DIME NOVELS FOR BOY'S FATAL "RUNNING AWAY" TRIP

Charles Wesley Richardson of Pike County, Ky., and Walter Richardson of Chillicothe, Mo., arrived here about six o'clock Wednesday evening by automobile and identified the body of the young boy killed in the east end of the N. & W. yards at East Portsmouth Wednesday morning about 7:30 o'clock as their son and brother, Charles Dean Richardson, 11 years old who left his home in Chillicothe last Friday afternoon. The father and brother did not have any trouble identifying the accident victim as his head and face were not cut in any way when he fell under the wheels of the west bound freight on which he was riding, probably headed for his Chillicothe home.

According to Walter Richardson the cause of the boy leaving home was dime novels which he has been reading for sometime. "He digested all that he read and then tried to put it into practice," said the brother. According to the brother the lad left home about three o'clock last Friday afternoon. He had remained out of school in the morning and after staying around the house for several hours in the afternoon suddenly left. He had attempted to run away several times previous, but the brother had always overtaken him before he got out of the city.

It is thought that the lad rode an N. & W. freight train to Columbus, a train to Cincinnati, the N. & W. back to Portsmouth from the Queen City and was probably on his way home on the west bound train Wednesday morning when he met death.

The extracts found in the notebook taken from the inside coat pocket of the dead boy are extracts from a novel found in the home at Chillicothe yesterday by Walter Richardson.

News of the death of an unidentified boy reached the Richardson home in Chillicothe at about noon through the Chillicothe police. The local N. & W. yard office had notified Chillicothe and other stations along the line of the fatal accident and the N. & W. men at Chillicothe told the police the story. Knowing of the missing boy they notified the family at once.

Calling the N. & W. offices here and obtaining a description of the dead boy, the brother was sure the victim was the missing boy. He arranged at once for the father to join him at Pike County, the trip being made in an automobile.

The Richardson boy was born and reared at Omega, Pike county. Five years ago the family moved to Pike County where the lad attended school until ten weeks ago when Mrs. Richardson and two children Charles and Berice went to Chillicothe. Mrs. Richardson going there to take care of her aged mother Mrs. Martha Ackley who passed away at 12:30 Wednesday morning. Mrs. Richardson thus suffered the loss of her mother and a son on the same day. The father and brother did not send word of the identification home last evening fearing that the shock might prove dangerous to the mother. They expected to tell her the sad news on arrival in Chillicothe early this morning.

Walter Richardson who is married has been living in Chillicothe for several months and has been keeping a watchful eye on his brother who attended the Chillicothe high school, being in the Sophomore class. The boy had been regular in his school attendance until the last week when he insisted on staying out of school.

The body was shipped to Chillicothe on N. & W. train No. 3 this morning. A double funeral for the grand-mother and boy will be held Friday afternoon at Chillicothe.

TAKE OVER HOLDINGS OF OHIO IRON AND COAL CO.

IRONTON, O., October 28.—What is probably the largest real estate deal ever made in this county, was concluded when Messrs. Simon Labell and H. B. Davis, of Portsmouth, and D. D. Davis, of Oak Hill, men prominently identified with the brick and clay industry of Southern Ohio, became the owners of the entire holdings of the Ohio Iron and Coal Company. The consideration was not made public, but it runs high in the thousands.

The property conveyed includes 7,200 acres in fee simple and which lies along the D. F. & T. right of way in the back part of the county and the mineral rights to an additional 10,000 acres. The entire property covers an average of twenty-six square miles, and is rich in deposits of coal, limestone, clay and shale suitable for brick-making, tile and pottery production. The supply is practically inexhaustible and will afford a field for development for many years to come.

The stock of the Ohio Iron and Coal Company was held principally by Philadelphia parties with a few small stockholders in this city and county. The purchasers are owners of the Cambridge Clay products Company, the Ohio Vire Brick Company, The Davis Vire Brick Company, The Carlyle-Labell Company and a large pottery plant at Brazil, Ind.

While it is early to speculate on the probable developments likely to follow in the wake of this big deal, it is certain that it will mean a wonderful lot for the future of Ironton and Lawrence county.

Promoting New Oil Company

Oliver E. J. Brubaker, of Columbus, is promoting the organization of a company for the purpose of refining oil from shale, which is found in this vicinity in great quantities, and the manufacture of by-products.

Brubaker claims that he is meeting with much success and that stock in the new enterprise is being subscribed at a rapid rate. He plans to construct a plant here and hopes to have it in operation by the first of the new year.

Artificial Rise Is Here

The artificial rise in the Ohio has reached Portsmouth and the river will rise here for the next 48 hours. At 7 o'clock this morning it registered 4 feet against 3 at the same hour Wednesday morning. All traffic remains suspended owing to the low stage of the river.

nothing on the market similar to this, and it being a very practical and useful device it will, no doubt, become very popular among phonograph owners as well as manufacturers. the gold rush and tells in an absorbing manner of the unplayable revenge of Michael Lafond, a half-breed Indian, against Jim Buckley, a scout, who caused Lafond to be driven from a wagon train for insulting one of the white women. Lafond rises to power in the hills, murders the white woman, kidnaps her daughter, and raises the child as his own daughter, later using the girl as part of his scheme of revenge against Buckley.

Lafond plans to marry Buckley to his ruin and to force the girl, Molly, into the life of a dance hall woman.

Now Lafond's plans are frustrated and Molly is saved by the man she loves while the half-breed meets his just deserts in a plunge down a steep escarpment in a buckboard, bringing a smashing climax to an enthralling narrative. Also Big V comedy.

NAZIMOVA in "REVELATION"

The Exhibit Theatre Takes The Greatest of Pleasure in Presenting For Its Attraction Tonight, The Wonderful, The Bizarre, Nazimova in Her Masterpiece, "Revelation." One of The World's Four Greatest Motion Pictures, Acclaimed by Critics as The Highest Pinnacle of the Motion Picture Art. Our Guarantee Is Behind It—You Must See It.

Metro's great special production de luxe, "Revelation," is a revelation in fact as well as in name. It reveals the art of the great Nazimova in a way unprecedented. "Revelation" is a mighty drama of the screen, based on a powerful story, that reaches the heights of sublimity, and descends to the profoundest depths of the human heart. In "Revelation," the great Nazimova at last has a vehicle worthy of her genius and worthy to head the list of her wonderful series of Metro features.

"Revelation" provides Nazimova with a role that demands the full sweep of her abilities. As the Parisian gazette, whose soul is laid bare in this gripping story, Nazimova is gay and fascinating, capricious and wilful as a summer storm, cold and calm one minute, tender and pure with the serenity of an Arctic sunning, the next. She is selfish, mad, passionate—she is noble, and self-sacrificing. She is first the mad cap grizette of the Latin Quarter; then she is the Madonna of the Rosebud, and of the Battlefields. From grizette into saint she is changed by the sun of revelation. The gay road music of the Paris dance halls merges into the crash and roar of battle are felt. The great production—its mystery, witchery, charm, it has the magic of a thousand years ago and the grim, dynamic reality of the present moment. "Revelation" rolls the ages into one.

WILLIAM RUSSELL IN A LIVE WIRE HICK

A Big Double Feature Program at the Eastland Theatre Tonight—William Russell in a Mile a Minute Comedy—A Live Wire Hick—and Jacques Jaccard's Thriller of the Northwest, "A Son of the North."

William Russell, popular young star of screen adventure, whose hair-raising encounters with all sorts and conditions of villains and his rescues of innumerable endangered maidens have endeared him to motion picture enthusiasts everywhere, has a new sort of role in the latest American release, "A Live Wire Hick," to be shown at the Eastland tonight, which depicts him as an ambitious but unsophisticated station agent from Hokokus, Maine, bent on making a million and marrying the prettiest girl in New York.

As the story runs, Nick Foster, who is Russell, finds New York's game a hard one to beat. He determines to write a glowing account of his adventures in New York, and just as he completes it, in walks Jimmie Kern, formerly of Hokokus, but now a prominent director of the Liffograph motion picture studios. Nick tells of his disillusionment, but shows this New York friend the letter he has written. The

WILLIAM RUSSELL IN A LIVE WIRE HICK

For Tonight Only the Eastland Theatre Presents the Athletic Star, William Russell in "A Live Wire Hick," a Picture of a Mile a Minute Comedy—A Live Wire Hick—and Jacques Jaccard's Thriller of the Northwest, "A Son of the North."

Program Tonight

A—Overture, Eastland Orchestra.

B—Feature, Wm. Russell in "A Live Wire Hick."

C—Extra added feature, Jacques Jaccard's "A Son of the North."

William Russell, athletic star of the screen, hero of a hundred fights to the death in as many tight corners, has his most sensational encounter in the American production, "A Live Wire Hick"—a fight that starts while he and his antagonist are hanging in a narrow shaft, and ends in a smashing knockout in the elevator cage.

The new drama is one of the best in which Russell has appeared. The star is given an opportunity to show versatility and does it in the role of Nick Foster, an ambitious station agent at Hokokus, who is determined to make a fortune in New York.

The adventures that befall Nick in the course of his search for wealth and the "beautiful girl" who is pretty Francella Billington, are of a novel character. The star is displayed in a comic vein which suits him admirably.

An extra added feature on tonight's program will be Jacques Jaccard's thrilling northwestern drama "A Son of the North."

COLUMBUS, Oct. 28.—Manager Bill Clymer of the Senators returned last night to his home in Wilkesbarre, where he will spend the winter. While President Joe Tinker has made no statement on the subject, there has been a persistent rumor in circulation that Clymer will not return to Columbus to coach the Senators next season. Manager Clymer has made no effort to disguise the fact that the past season was a bitter disappointment to him in the town in which he was especially anxious to make good. Like wise he has confided to intimate friends that he would like to try once more to produce a pennant winner in this city.

Volley Ball League

The Bankers got a most unexpected felt yesterday when the High School teachers landed on them for three straight games forcing them from the top of the ladder and taking it themselves. The games were won by the scores of 21 to 17, 21 to 10 and 21 to 10. This defeat drops the Bankers back to 50 per cent, while it leaves the High School teachers in first place with Selby second. The victory of the High School teachers was due largely to the excellent work of Coach McComb and Prof. Appel. The Bankers led by Ray Erhart, did their best, but could not come up to their speedy rivals.

The lineups were as follows:—High School teachers—Coach McComb, captain, Prof. Appel, Prof. H. H. Vecker, W. E. Massie, E. E. Leis and C. D. Walden.

Game In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Oct. 28.—Chillicothe will invade the West Side A. J. field next Sunday. In five games this season Chillicothe has not been scored on, and has had only four first downs made against it.

Despite the muddy condition of the field, the high school warriors were put through a stiff practice Wednesday afternoon on the Sixteenth street lot.

Coach McComb insists that the locals must keep in condition and practice will be held this afternoon and tomorrow if it shows. The Red and Blue warriors tackle Huntington Saturday at Huntington and the local coach is determined that the P. H. S. representatives should turn in a winner. Huntington has always been a bitter rival, and the P. H. S. boys will do their best to bring home a scalp from the up river clan.

James Scott, sub-center, will be out of the game this week on account of low studies, and McComb, colorist, who has been playing at guard and tackle positions, will probably get left here with Scott. It is understood that the West Virginia Athletic Association has a rule which bars colored men from the game.

The P. H. S. team still has an open date for Thanksgiving Day, although Parkersburg wants the locals to come there. The locals would rather play at home and an effort will be made to bring some high school eleven here for Turkey Day and should this plan fail, a team representing the Annual may be put on the field to battle with this year's school eleven.

C. A. Club Organizes

CHILICOTHE, Oct. 28.—With new officers elected and installed, new committees named and plans made for boosting the membership by several hundred, the Chillicothe Athletic Club began a new year last evening, a year, which promises a new growth and interest, as well as progressive accomplishments such as a club of this kind should realize in a city the size of Chillicothe.

The officers, directors and committees constitute a live-wire organization that should push the C. A. C. well over the goal of its contemplated achievement.

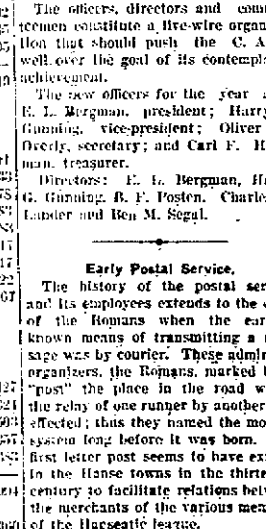

The new officers for the year are: E. L. Morgan, president; Harry G. Gunning, vice-president; Oliver O. Overly, secretary; and Carl F. Hageman, treasurer.

Directors: E. L. Bergman, Harry G. Gunning, R. F. Posten, Charles A. Lander and Ben M. Segal.

Schedule Tough One

West Virginia is only playing a few easy games, such as Pitt, Yale, Princeton, W. and J. and two or three others with about the same ranking. But next season the boys hope to have a first-class schedule to work with.

G.O.P. Campaign To Cost Almost 3 And Half Million BRITISH MINE STRIKE IS SETTLED

DEMOCRATS SPEND LITTLE OVER EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND

NEW YORK, October 28.—Total receipts by the Democratic national committee for the present campaign amount to $878,811.51, according to an announcement today by William W. Marsh, the party's national treasurer.

This figure Mr. Marsh said, was today submitted according to the requirements of the corrupt practices law to the Kenson committee investigating campaign contributions and expenditures in Chicago.

The sum collected, the Democratic treasurer stated, is constituted almost entirely of contributions to the campaign fund, with the exception of $139,000 which was borrowed. Other sources, which aggregated collections of only a few hundred dollars, included the sale of the campaign text books, refunds from advertising and such small items.

The statement itemizes monies received by the headquarters in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, as well as the women's bureau. Of the total $878,811.51 was collected in New York, while San Francisco showed an aggregate fund of but $1,741.91. The women's bureau was responsible for the collection of $82,414.50. Chicago collected $23,041.51.

Disbursements by the entire organization up to the same date, as shown by the statement, amount to $233,345.42, with New York bearing by far the heaviest burden, Chicago's share being less than its receipts, and San Francisco an expense approximately eight times the amount of funds received. Among the women's bureau for the entire campaign to date cost but $11,292.20, the statement adds.

Several books of the treasurer's office also show commitments as of October 25, as follows:

Naturalized citizens' bureau, $761.10; organization bureau, $2,248.90; women's bureau, $12,022.20; treasurer's statistical, $1,491.20; general, $2,210.10; publicity, $121,103.44; total commitments, $129,835.40.

In addition to funds already received, Mr. Marsh's statement included a memorandum in the effect that two Illinois clubs had pledged $25,000 each to the expenses of advertising books relating to the League of Nations.

Of this sum $1,042,892.32 had been spent up to the close of business Sunday, October 24, and Mr. Upham estimated the expenditures in the closing week of the campaign at $400,000 additional. The report shows that $301,588.98 was spent between October 18, when a report was filed with the clerk of the house of representatives in Washington, and October 21, the date of today's report.

The total estimated cost of the campaign—$3,442,892.32—is considered in excess of the Republican budget of $3,070,037.20, presented to the senate committee at a hearing here last August, but Mr. Upham explained that the disbursements covered the period from June 14, while the budget included only expenditures from July 1. About $200,000 was spent between June 14 and July 1. Mr. Upham's office estimated, leaving the estimated disbursements from July 1 to November 2 approximately $2,240,000, about $182,000 in excess of the estimated budget.

Contributions received since June 14 total $2,914,706.03, or $128,186.24 less than the amount expended to date. Mr. Upham's report shows. Of the amount collected $1,793,563.51 was devoted directly to the national campaign under the direction of the national committee. The remaining $1,121,142.52 was returned to the states in which it was raised in accordance with an agreement whereby the national committee solicited all funds for both state and national campaign purposes.

Since Mr. Upham presented his last report to the senate committee here on August 29, in which he showed 18 contributions exceeding the $1,000 limit laid down by Chairman Will H. Hays, there have been 16 more such contributions from individuals and two from clubs, today's report shows. The 18 donations total $32,470.20 and include:

Harding-Confidant club, Tulsa, Okla., $10,000.
Hawthorn club, Chicago, $4,120.50.
James R. Smith, San Francisco, $5,000.

In several instances, members of the same family have given contributions of $1,000 each.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Davidson, Hay City, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Crocker, San Francisco, and four other members of the Crocker family, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Dodge, Detroit, and four members of the Speckles family of San Francisco are in this class.

Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor Calvin Coolidge, his running mate, each gave $1,000, as did Fred W. Upham, the Republican national treasurer; John T. Adams, vice chairman of the national committee; A. T. Herr, of Louisville, committeeman from Kentucky; Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, former ambassador to France; and Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, brother of ex-President Taft. There are several hundred $1,000 contributions.

Mr. Upham's office estimated there were approximately 50,000 contributors to the campaign chest. The smallest contribution listed was of 25 cents. There are thousands of $5, $10, $25, $50 and $100 donations as well as large women in odd cents. Eleven Chicago women gave 62 cents each; why, no one in Mr. Upham's office knows.

With his report, Mr. Upham filed a sworn affidavit answering a series of written questions put to him by the senate committee. The affidavit sets forth that the "amount to be expended by the national committee for the further purpose of the campaign does not exceed the sum of $100,000, which is the aggregate expended sum of the appropriation provided for the budget of the committee. One of the questions asked by the committee is: "Have you in the foregoing statement truthfully and fully set forth all monies paid or promised, whether the promise be of an express sum of money or an agreement to pay an indefinite sum, or to contribute with others to any fund or funds now being collected or to be hereafter collected?"

Mr. Upham answered in the affirmative. The report shows no pledges of aid to make up any deficit that may exist after the election, but the affidavit states that "the committee does, however, contemplate the continuation of its campaign for funds with which to discharge its unpaid debts."

Asked by the committee whether there were "any agreement or agreements, express or implied, made or contemplated to the effect that any monies will be furnished to make up the deficiencies, which may exist between monies on hand, collected or above accounted for and the monies expended, or which may hereafter be expended by the committee or any of its officers or agents?"

The treasurer said there was none.

In response to another question, he said:

"I know of no committee, associa-

COX CHARGES SATURDAY EVENING POST AND ITS EDITOR, GEO. HORACE LORIMER, WITH UNFAIR PARTISANSHIP

DAYTON, O., Oct. 28.—Another honest man who represents a just cause has no objection to presenting both sides of the case.

"In my statement I charged anterior interests. Since Mr. Lorimer has seen the question of ethics, I would like to direct to him the plain question: 'Is his interest in this election which brings the unusual act of partisan support from his paper based upon the desire for a return to 'normalcy' under which his publication sought to prosper by unfair methods? Is it because the Curtis Publishing company was found guilty of the use of unfair and illegal methods of competition and violation of the anti-trust law prohibiting use of certain 'tying' contracts and of violation of the federal trade commission ruling? The complaint in each case was based upon the fact that the Curtis Publishing company made contracts with wholesale distributors which prevented them from handling other publications without permission from the Curtis Publishing company, and which prohibited the sale of all competing publications. The plan of the Curtis Publishing company was with the intent and had the effect of largely increasing circulation of Curtis publications and unfairly decreasing circulation of competing or competitive publications to the end that the Curtis Publishing company would derive large advertising rates by reason of tremendous circulation. These unfair practices prevented competing publishers from obtaining distribution of their publications through the ordinary distributing channels and forced them to distribute through channels which did not have any facilities for a wide distribution. Proof for these unlawful practices was found by the federal trade commission after extensive hearings, on July 21, 1919, and the Curtis Publishing company was forced to cease and desist."

"Here is the harm of the reactionary or return to normalcy. The protection of the anti-trust act is insufficient; but the federal trade commission has authority to investigate the facts and to issue rulings thereon. Every unfair business in America is therefore against me because I do not stand for the return to the old order, under which the strong prosper at the expense of the weak and under which big business grew bigger while small businesses were forced out of existence."

and more, has finally been brought to light. It has grown to such size and gained such prosperity as to be emboldened beyond all discretion and has expressed what in my mind is the thing which is causing all big business to support the reactionary candidate, namely, that they know that from me they may expect a square deal and nothing more. It is the difference between a square deal and that which big business wants which constitutes the return to 'normalcy.'"

Find Radicals Drilling In A Dense Fog

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND, October 28.—The police surprised a body of civilians doing military drill during a dense fog at 2 o'clock this morning near Roswell, eight miles southeast of Glasgow. Shots were exchanged and one policeman was wounded seriously. Several of the civilians were arrested. ## A MATTER OF EFFORT

THE United States Assistant District Attorney declares that there is no "big whiskey evasion" revealed, but that the lead runs to police headquarters.

He means, of course, that the police have been benefiting in the larger evasions of the law. How much truth there is in his accusation is, in the present, no more than a matter of remote conjecture, but it directs attention to one uncontested fact and that is, if in any place there be open and continued violation of the law the blame therefore lies either in the consent or the indifference of those who are especially charged with enforcement.

Consent is always corrupted, either directly or indirectly. Indifference is not necessarily so. Sometimes the latter springs out of a feeling that the public itself is unconcerned and therefore effort at suppression is a bother that isn't worth the while. The police are not at all singular in this position. It is one just as commonly assumed by the people. In large numbers and even in the mass they totally disregard some statutes, while others they clamor to have made effective.

Still there is a difference in the obligation of the two, one class undertakes definitely to enforce the laws, and so assumes a fixed obligation, while the other has only the vague responsibility of citizenship and a still vaguer conception of what is his duty as such.

The whole situation is that authorities can, if they so choose, enforce to some degree all statutes and the people may have enforcement of any one if they demand it.

TAKING WHAT CAN BE GOTTEN

IN his speech of Tuesday, being thereto prompted by an inquiry made of him by several more or less distinguished gentlemen through the press, made the entirely sensible statement, that if he couldn't get a whole loaf he would take a half loaf.

True those were no part of his words but it conveys the idea in a homely and familiar way. His actual declaration was that he was in favor of the covenant of the league of nations, but if he were elected president and a hostile senate confronted him and prevented approval of the document as he thought it should be, he would sit down and talk it out with that body and accept the best he could get—the main idea being to get into the league.

We opine he had particularly in mind the controversy that has raged around famous Article 10. We have read and re-read that and studied it forward and backwards and confess we see nothing fearful or monstrous in it. It does not commit the United States, or any other nation to war. At the greatest extreme it can no more than advise such a course. If America or any other nation of the council is averse to going to war all it has got to do is to vote nay and the advice will not be given—the decisions of the council must be unanimous, else there can be no action by it whatsoever. And just bear this in mind no treaty and that is what the covenant of the league of nations is—can send America to war; no other power than congress can do that.

The big idea is to get all the nations to agree not to go to war. Forty-three of them have already so agreed by signing the league covenant as it is written. The rest of the world is quite ready to do so, when permitted, let not America, along with Russia, which says she will not sign, be a holdout.

Many men would get along better on the journey of life if they did not consult so many contradictory guidebooks.

After a man has wasted a lot of your time it is provoking to have him say he must keep an important engagement.

The prune will need to develop more kick before it can be raised to the esteem in which the raisin is held.

It is a fine spirit of optimism that prompts young folks to cling to the idea that two can live as cheaply as one.

When retribution overtakes a married man he likes to blame everything on his wife.

A lot of women should be able to develop their fitness for the ballot by voting against their husbands.

The automobile driver who has nowhere in particular to go and is in a hurry to get there does not seem concerned over the cost of gasoline.

Chemical Aid for Business

By Frederic J. Mackin

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., October 28.—There is a firm here which believes in chemistry as a power to revolutionize industry just as strongly as Fulton ever believed in his steamboat or Bell in the telephone. Chemistry is already acknowledged as an important factor in industry, but this firm says that the possibilities of applying science to business have scarcely been tapped. It points out that by the present methods of handling materials recklessly and handling up waste rich in possibilities, the country's resources are dwindling so rapidly that efficiency and scientific management will have to be carried down to a much higher degree.

In a few years we may expect to find a common thing for a factory to retain a chemist just as it now employs a lawyer. Many large plants already maintain chemical laboratories. One of Boston's biggest and most efficient department stores has such a laboratory. And here in Cambridge by the Charles River, there is the big yellow brick building of this company which conducts a thriving business as chemical adviser and assistant to all sorts of manufacturers, inventors, tradesmen, and professional men. There is no line of industry which cannot be benefited by applied chemistry, the firm maintains, and the variety of its activities strengthens this broad claim.

One client, a manufacturer, recently discovered that a kind of shoe polish which he had long been purchasing was not being made any more. The matter was taken up with the industrial chemist, and an old bottle of the polish was sent home and in a short time he received the formula he wanted and help in establishing the necessary apparatus to make his own polish.

Another plant was having trouble with its product—minute ripples—becoming misshapen. The chemist made a survey of the machinery in use and found that the trouble was due to the flour being boiled in tin. When the tin was replaced with wood and the process changed slightly, there was no more trouble.

Tests For Merchandise

In still another instance the firm was requested to make a series of tests for a merchant to ascertain the wearing quality of several kinds of stockings. Artificial lights were used to hasten the discoloration ordinarily caused by sunlight. Special apparatus produced the effects of rubbing, soap, mud, and wear, and careful records were obtained, so that from the final report the dealer knew all the strong and weak points of the different brands of stockings he had been carrying.

This last job is interesting because it shows how chemistry is slowly entering the buying game, and rendering innocuous the blarney of the dapper traveling salesman. Of course it will be some time before the small town general store with its modest capital can afford to have its stock analyzed to find out whether the silk or leather it is buying is as good as the salesman said. But big stores are doing this. They say that it is better to have a test show up a poor grade of silk before they invest than to wait and have customers find flaws and possibly leave the store forever. On the other hand, if the material in a lot of dresses has been scientifically tested for wear, dyes and quality, and has proved durable, the customer can safely be assured of satisfaction.

To cope with the varying problems put to it, the firm here has to employ chemists who are unusually versatile. The company has the reputation of being the greatest paper authority in the country. It has a small paper mill in one of its laboratories and chemists are almost always working here on some new paper project. There are also many demands for work on glass and fuels. But for the most part, each new contract calls for a new angle of investigation.

Helping The Planter

An unusual problem to which the chemist worked out an ingenious solution was "Can weeds in a sugar cane plantation be controlled more cheaply and efficiently than by constant hand-weeding?"

The concern which wanted this question answered, was in Hawaii. The research chemist spent some time in experiments and deep thought and finally emerged with a kind of soft but heavy brown paper which they have made from a waste material of the sugar mill called bagasse. This paper was impregnated with asphalt and was laid out in long strips in a field where cane had been planted. When the cane came around the first paper and shot up, but weeds could not get through and died. This simple arrangement, using the material which the mill had been burning as worthless, increases the yield of sugar cane 25 percent, and decreases the cost of labor for weeding 50 percent.

Declaration of waste is one of the chemist's most important fields of service. In the instance of the sugar mill the bagasse became valuable because it was right at hand and could be cheaply converted into paper by the mill itself.

A more vital instance of good material neglected turned up in the south in connection with the long leaf yellow pine. This pine has been the mainstay of the naval store industry, but now lumber men have begun to worry over the turpentine and resin products, for they figure that the supply of virgin yellow pine is due to last only about 10 or 12 years longer.

Valuable Stumps

This proposition was put up to the industrial chemist. They found that in the south there are thousands of acres of pine stumps. Experiments with some of these discarded stumps showed that, if they are shredded and a solvent added, turpentine, resin and pine oil can be extracted. These stumps were proved to be richer in turpentine than the trees themselves, and the soil from which they were blasted is fertile enough to be good land for cotton growing.

These facts, discovered about three years ago, are being applied to a small extent now. Utilization of the stump lands, however, is more expensive than the old method of tapping trees, so that it is not likely to become popular for a few years yet, or so long as the supply of trees lasts.

These are random examples given here, but they serve to show how science, research, and especially chemical research, is applied to any kind of business. Such assistance is not yet generally available to small industrial concerns, because it is an expensive proposition to keep skilled chemists at work in laboratories equipped for all sorts of experiments.

This is not the only plant of the kind in the country, and as time goes on there will doubtless be many more. This Cambridge company does claim the distinction of having as its founder and head one of the pioneers of industrial chemistry—a man who 35 years ago started the astounding idea that chemistry could help business. At that time, he says, such remarks were regarded as humorous, and called for such pleasantities as "You'll never blow up my shop with your infernal gases." But this far-seeing chemist kept on working, and now million-dollar plants are committed to his care to be experimented with as he sees fit.

Q. Has there been a no hit game pitched in a World Series during the last five years? J. B. J.

A. During the last five years there has not been a single no hit game pitched during a world's series.

Q. Why is Mt. Fuji called the "Sacred Mountain"? J. B. J.

A. Fujiama is called the Sacred Mountain because of the many temples upon its side which draw to it many devout pilgrims.

Q. Does the average person drink more coffee than tea in this country? H. M. E.

A. In the United States the average consumption of tea is about a pound per capita annually, the average consumption of coffee being 10 pounds per capita. It must be borne in mind, however, that a pound of tea provides more of beverage than does a pound of coffee.

Q. What is the length, weight, and passenger accommodation of a Pullman car? J. B. J.

A. The length of the usual American Pullman car is 50-52 feet, including two vestibules of 3-12 feet each. This car weighs about 150,000 pounds, and is usually made in ten sections and two driving rooms.

Q. Will fence posts made of honey locust trees last as well as those made of post oak timber? H. M. E.

A. The Forest Service says that provided both timbers are properly treated, honey locust posts will last longer than post oak timber.

Q. When were the first laws passed in this country for the betterment of roads? A. N.

A. The first good roads legislation was enacted by the Virginia House of Burgesses in 1632. The act provided that each person should work a certain number of days on the road and that the parish surveyor should have charge of the administration of the law.

Q. How long have safety pins been used? H. W. Mel.

A. Safety pins can be traced back to the 15th century. In 14th, when pins were made of bone and bent over, shaped like the modern safety pin. Many of them have been found in graves of that period. Since then, the safety pin has passed through many changes and been made of various metals. An average of 1,000,000 pins of safety pins are now manufactured yearly.

Q. What are the three largest statues in the world? M. H. L.

A. Probably the three largest statues in the world are the Colossus of Rhodes, about 120 feet high, located in Rhodes; the Great Sphinx of Giza, 66 feet high; Egypt; the Statue of Liberty, 101 feet high, located in the city of New York.

Q. When a train is going around a curve, is most of the weight on the high rail or the low rail? L. S.

A. The Bureau of Standards says the proportion of weight on the two rails will depend altogether on the elevation of the outer rail and the speed of the train. If there is no super elevation of the curve and the train is traveling at a comparatively high rate of speed the centrifugal force will, of course, put the greater weight upon the outside rails, but it is the universal custom to elevate the outer rails so as to preserve the equal distribution of weight at the speeds at which trains usually run.

Q. How should cheese be kept? A. N.

A. To keep cheese which has been cut, wrap in a slightly damp cloth, then in paper, and keep in a cool place. When put into a covered dish, the air should not be wholly excluded as this causes cheese to mold more rapidly.

New-York - Day-By-Day

By O. G. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—It was Effie Fay who sang of the joys of Avenue A back in the days when a rat of pit was a ticket and simple folk believed that money could not be fixed. Things have not changed much on Avenue A, which winds its way along the East side, gaily with red wash from rusty fire escapes and bearing the unmistakable stamp of poverty.

A few slant blocks west and one may ring at great odds doors to be met by the butler's polite inquiry: Did you ring, sir? On Avenue A a ring at the door brings a frowny head which says: "What'll you want?" At least that was the experience in the fourth and hopeless quest of a hound dog.

Very soon to be either very fat or very lean on Avenue A and for a train that happy medium the tailor calls svelte, imposing triple chin.

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

SIR ROBERT HORNE

Great Britain is fortunate in having as her pilot in this, the present serious labor trouble, a man of such strength and experience with the problems of the home as Sir Robert Horne, the minister of labor.

It is to him that his countrymen look, as the Min of the hour, with hope and confidence, for a solution of the extraordinary crisis by which they are confronted; a crisis threatening to paralyze the industry and the commerce not alone of the United Kingdom, but of the entire empire.

Mr. Robert, a very tall, stalwart, clean shaven man, with bushy eyebrows, beneath them blue eyes, twinkling with humor, and features that are always suffused with a merry smile, knows the labor question from the very ground up. He was born in a Scotch fishing village about midway between Edinburgh and Glasgow, where his father was parish minister, and throughout his childhood and early manhood lived in what might be described as a mining labor atmosphere, since it was his father and to the name that all the miners of the district and their wives brought their troubles and appeals for help and advice. He is a graduate of Glasgow University, where he distinguished himself in the football field as well as in scholarship, taking first class honors and fellowships, and then became a member of the Scottish bar, where he did so well that he was soon a king's counsel.

At the outset of the war, being over the military age, Robert Horne gave up his large and lucrative practice, estimated at $20,000 to $30,000 a year, to undertake recruiting work at Edinburgh, where he attracted attention, and was intrusted with the assistant directorship of the agricultural department of the national service department in London. Then Sir Eric Geddes got hold of him, and he became the principal lieutenant of Geddes in the organization of railroad transport service in France. When Sir Eric was appointed first lord of the admiralty and intrusted with the task of shifting the great navy department at Whitehall of all its accumulation of centuries of cobwebs and of red tape he insisted upon having Sir Robert with him; and there Horne remained, until lured by Premier Lloyd George to assume the management and control of the labor department.

The Greater Goal

When some man does a wrong or falls in task. And something tells that I should criticize. Or call him fool, then this thing would I ask: That I could see myself through his own eyes.... That I might look through eyes unprejudiced. And see myself as other people do. For I would find shortcomings I have missed. And learn of failures that I never knew.

When some man speaks to me in bitter tone. Unhappily, or maybe out of choice. Then this thing I would ask, and this alone: That through his ears I could hear my own voice.... That I might hear through ears unprejudiced. My earnest voice as other people do. For I would find a thousand words I've missed. And learn of sorrows that I never knew.

But God made me as He made other men. With just one pair of eyes, one pair of ears. To see and hear my fellowmen; so when My eyes would seek out wrongs, my
